24th SUNDAY in ORDINARY TIME, YEAR A

16 / 17 September 2023

READINGS

Sirach 27:30-28:7 Forgive your neighbour's faults and when you pray, your sins will be forgiven.

Romans 14:7-9 Whether alive or dead, we belong to the Lord.

GOSPEL

Matthew 18:21-35 I tell you that you forgive not seven times but seventy times seven.

Sept 1—October 4 is celebrated as the Season of Creation, which we remember liturgically in our prayers and in our hymns. This year's theme is "Let Justice and Peace Flow". If you'd like to know more about the Season of Creation have a look at <https://seasonofcreation.org/>. Also keep an eye on our Parish Facebook page over the month as we offer prayer and other opportunities to help celebrate this Season.

Forgiveness lies at the heart of the Christian life. At the same time, we know that it is not something to speak of lightly. For people deeply wronged or hurt, finding the capacity to forgive may be the task of a lifetime. Such a capacity is a grace, the gift of God. It cannot simply be willed. Believers at least have strong scriptural resources commending forgiveness – as in the total offering of readings for today.

The First Reading sets the tone, linking divine and human forgiveness. The text almost gives the impression that human readiness to forgive determines whether one receives forgiveness from God, as if God waits to see how things are on the human side before moving to forgive. This would be contrary to the overall biblical sense that the initiative always remains with God and the concluding instruction, 'Remember the covenant of the Most High', restores and safeguards the true perspective. Although interest in one's self and one's destiny is important, and one's relationship with neighbour even more important, the primary reason for doing good should be one's devotion to God. From this all other relationships flow and find their meaning and purpose.

In the Gospel, Peter obviously considers seven a most generous number (seven usually signifying perfection or completeness in the Jewish Scriptures). Jesus replies with the extraordinary number 'seventy times seven'. Forgiveness, like love, has no limits.

The parable sets up the measuring stick for Christian love of the generous, forgiving master. From the experience of God's extraordinary generosity we ought to be generous in our turn. The servant in the parable forgot his experience of being forgiven, focussed only on his being wronged. Christians need to be people with long memories, able to recall the times they have failed and been forgiven, and from this place reach out in forgiveness of others.

In the Second Reading, Paul maintains that Christ, by virtue of his death and resurrection, exercises power over life and death, the total lordship of the risen Christ. He insists that in every aspect of life and even in death, Christians are under the lordship of Christ, belonging and accountable to Christ. So their lives and their deaths must demonstrate this. This understanding is the bedrock of Paul's ethics. For Paul, there is no radical individualism or self-fulfilment independent of Christ.

APOSTLE'S CREED

I believe in God, the Father almighty, Creator of heaven and earth,
and in Jesus Christ, his only Son, our Lord,
who was conceived by the Holy Spirit,
born of the Virgin Mary,
suffered under Pontius Pilate,
was crucified, died and was buried;
he descended into hell;
on the third day he rose again from the dead;
he ascended into heaven,
and is seated at the right hand of God the Father
almighty;
from there he will come to judge the living and the dead.

I believe in the Holy Spirit, the holy catholic Church,
the communion of saints, the forgiveness of sins,
the resurrection of the body,
and life everlasting.
Amen.
