25th SUNDAY in ORDINARY TIME, YEAR A

23 / 24 September 2023

READINGS

Isaiah 55:6-9

My thoughts are not your thoughts.

Philippians 1:20-24,27

For me to live is Christ.

GOSPEL

Matthew 20:1-16

Why are you jealous because I am generous.

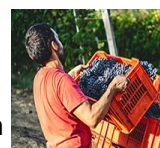

Sept 1—October 4 is celebrated as the Season of Creation, which we remember liturgically in our prayers and in our hymns. This year's theme is "Let Justice and Peace Flow". If you'd like to know more about the Season of Creation have a look at <https://seasonofcreation.org/>. Also keep an eye on our Parish Facebook page over the month as we offer prayer and other opportunities to help celebrate this Season.

In the First Reading, we hear Isaiah call the people back to God, assuring them of God's compassion. Isaiah tries to calm fears of God's anger by saying that God doesn't think or act like we do, God is "rich in forgiving".

This reminder that God's ways and thoughts are not like ours is the link to today's Gospel. Jesus is again trying to give his disciples a vision of what God's kingdom might look like.

The parable is unique to Matthew and its place in the Gospel narrative is important. At the start of chapter 19, Matthew records that Jesus left Galilee and crossed into the Southern region of Judea, heading towards Jerusalem. Heading to Jerusalem though, is a journey into the centre of Jewish religious authority. It will be, for Jesus, the centre of conflict. Across chapters 18 and 19 Jesus teaches the rigorous demands of following him. The ethics of the reign of God ask more than the ethics of Moses. The model for Christian behaviour is to be based not on Moses, but on the model of God. And the God Jesus describes does not measure things as we do and does not act as we might expect. In placing the parable here, in the narrative context of Jesus' journey to Jerusalem and death, it may be that Matthew understands Jesus' death coming from that same source of utterly ridiculous love. The parable might then be read as a commentary on Jesus' own life, given to both the first comers and the late arrivals.

The parable suggests that God will not be limited within a strict 'law of deserts'. God is just, but, beyond justice, reserves the right to be overwhelmingly generous as well – not on a comparative basis but on the basis of the divine relationship with each individual, something often wrapped in mystery. So much trouble comes from the human propensity to 'look sideways', to be envious. We are all equally and totally recipients of God's boundless generosity. Aligning ourselves with this view of God has much to do with allowing the Kingdom to transform our lives and our world.

In the Second Reading, we've moved away from the letter to the Romans and begin the letter to the Philippians. Paul writes from imprisonment and debates with himself whether life or death would be more advantageous. He believes that neither life nor death can separate him from Christ (see Rom 8:39 and last week's Rom 14:7-9). Still, there are advantages in both living and dying. Continued life will give him opportunities for strengthening the churches he has helped establish, and death will allow him to become fully united with Christ even though it will probably be disadvantageous for others.

RE REFERENDUM

FROM THE SOCIAL JUSTICE TEAM

The date for the referendum is almost upon us and is perhaps the most important decision we will make this decade. In a bid to help us all to make an informed decision, the social justice group is organizing two "kitchen table conversations" – a wonderful way to bring our parish community together to listen, learn and reflect on the Indigenous Voice to Parliament Referendum. Designed by the National Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Catholic Council these conversations will be held at

St. Bernard's Community Centre on Sunday October 1st after Morning Tea following the 9.30 Mass and at St Catherine's Hall on Sunday October 8th after the 8.30 a.m. Mass.

Mark your calendar for this most important discussion.

APOSTLE'S CREED

I believe in God, the Father almighty, Creator of heaven and earth,
and in Jesus Christ, his only Son, our Lord,
who was conceived by the Holy Spirit,
born of the Virgin Mary,
suffered under Pontius Pilate,
was crucified, died and was buried;
he descended into hell;
on the third day he rose again from the dead;
he ascended into heaven,
and is seated at the right hand of God the Father almighty;
from there he will come to judge the living and the dead.

I believe in the Holy Spirit, the holy catholic Church,
the communion of saints, the forgiveness of sins,
the resurrection of the body,
and life everlasting.
Amen.

EUCCHARISTIC ACCLAMATION
